Session Description: I-Ready provides online lessons and assessments for 25 percent of U.S. students and every day we collect millions of data points. By analyzing the results from this extensive data set, we are able to answer a common question posed by all educators: “how can I help students achieve their performance and growth goals?” In this session, we’ll share some of the findings from our “high flyer” interviews where we spoke with educators from schools and districts who not only achieved stretch growth but are also outperforming their peers who have similar demographics (socio-economic status). Catapult Learning

Session Title: Understanding Multi-Access Learning

Session Description: In the recent months following the COVID epidemic, educators across the country have had to reconsider learning strategies to ensure their schools had a psychologically safe learning environment for students and teachers. In this session, Catapult Learning’s Kristy Swol will share how Multi-Access Learning is able to support student success. Attendees will come to understand best teaching practices, assessment strategies and how to build effective, Multi-Access lessons for their students. With the tools provided in this session, educators will be able to effectively support their school communities with different learning modalities that will enable students to reconnect with subject matter in a more direct and impactful way.

Presenter: Dr. Kristy Swol

Renaissance

Session Title: Prioritizing Literacy Growth for Florida Students—At Home, In Class, or Both

Session Description: Helping readers achieve proficiency is essential to improving their overall learning outcomes. But how can you ensure Florida students have access to high-quality reading practice—at home, in the classroom, or both—to close COVID learning gaps and guide growth toward mastery? Join this session to discover innovative instructional approaches to improving reading proficiency and achievement for every reader, including:

- A new tool that identifies the most critical literacy skills for every grade level
- Engaging readers with unlimited access to books and news based on their interests
- Improving students’ literacy skills and content-area knowledge with cross-curricular reading
- How Renaissance literacy solutions support in class, at home, and blended learning

Presenter: Tanna Colwell, Senior National Academic Advisor
